

Summer Intensive Program: Professional Division FAQ's

→Is it possible to attend less than the 6-week Professional Division Summer Program or 5-week Junior Division Summer Program?

Unfortunately, because of the popularity of our Summer Intensive Program we do not allow partial participation or latecomers to the program. If you are 16 years or older and can only attend The Ailey School for a short duration of time during the summer, we recommend you contact The Ailey Extension at aileyextension@alvinailey.org for information on how to attend classes on a drop-in basis according to your individual availability.

→If I have been accepted to the Summer Intensive Program and plan to audition for a Scholarship, do I still have to submit my $300 deposit?

There are a limited number of spaces allotted to paying students and an additional number of spaces allotted for Scholarship students. Usually, by the time the Scholarship audition takes place most of the spaces for paying students are filled or close to being filled. Therefore, if you plan to attend the Summer Program regardless of whether or not you receive a Scholarship, you should submit your $300 deposit by the deadline in order to reserve your place as a paying student. In the event that you are awarded a Scholarship your $300 deposit would then be transferred towards your Scholarship Participation fee, registration fee and physical therapy fee.

Please remember that the $300 deposit is non-refundable so if you are absolutely certain that you are unable to attend the Summer Program unless you receive a Scholarship, it is not necessary to submit a $300 deposit.

→How many classes are students assigned each week?

Students attend a minimum of 12 to a maximum of 15 classes per week, which may include a repertory or elective workshop. Classes take place Monday through Friday. A typical schedule includes a daily ballet class, a daily Horton technique and/or Graham-based modern technique, and 5 additional elective classes and/or workshop.

→How are students placed in the appropriate technique levels?

All students who have attended an audition have been placed in the appropriate technique levels by the audition panel.

Students who auditioned by DVD and photographs will be placed by the School Co-Directors based on the material demonstrated in their DVD, as long as they have followed the DVD submission guidelines. Those applicants who have not provided the required material will have their DVD returned.

→When will I know what levels I have been placed in?

Students will know what levels they have been placed in when they receive their final class schedules from the Registrar. Students should keep in mind that technique levels at The Ailey School do not correspond to the levels at other schools. Therefore, the levels you attend at your current school have no bearing on the levels you will be placed in at The Ailey School.

→How are students scheduled for classes?

After a student has made a $300 deposit to the program they will receive a Class Enrollment form on which they can indicate their preferred modern technique (Horton or Graham-based modern) and their first, second, and third choice of elective classes and/or workshops.* Students must return this form by mail or e-mail to The Ailey School Admissions Office. Based on the technique levels students have been placed in, and their choices of elective classes/workshops, Ailey School Faculty Advisors will create a schedule of 12 to 15 classes for each student. Students who have met the minimum level requirements to audition for repertory workshops will have the opportunity to audition on the first day of the summer program. If chosen for a repertory workshop, the students schedule will be adjusted to accommodate that workshop.

Due to studio space limits, there are a maximum number of students enrolled in each class/technique. Therefore, students should keep in mind that they may not get their first choice of technique or elective classes.*

 The maximum number of classes/workshops students may be scheduled for is 15. There are no exceptions to this rule.*

→When will I receive my class schedule?

Finalized schedules will be e-mailed to students the week before the start of the Summer Intensive Program. Only those students who have paid in full and have submitted all the required enrollment materials will receive their schedules by e-mail.

→Can schedules and/or technique levels be changed once the program has started?

There are no schedule changes. If a teacher determines that a student should be placed in a different level after the first week of classes, only the teacher can make that recommendation. Students may not request changes in the classes they have chosen or the levels they have been placed in.

→How many students are in each class?

Class size varies depending on the technique, the level, and the studio the class takes place in. Classes can be anywhere from 20 students to 45 students in our larger studios and elective classes and workshops.

→Can students receive evaluations and/or college credit for participation in the Summer Intensive Program?

Students wishing to receive evaluations or college credit must provide a letter from their current college or university on official stationary to The Ailey School Registrar, prior to the summer program. Letters must be received in sealed envelopes no later than June 15. Only those students who provide a letter may receive credit. Requests for credit will not be considered otherwise.

→What is the policy on missing classes?

The Ailey School attendance policy does not allow for excessive absences, as stated in The Ailey School Student Handbook. Absences will be evaluated on a case by case basis. Excessive absences from workshop rehearsals may prevent a student from participating in performances, or result in dismissal from the Summer Program.

→Are make-up classes allowed?

No. If a student misses a class they cannot make it up.

→Do all students get to perform in the end of summer performances?

The Ailey School makes every effort to give students of every level the opportunity to perform by offering elective workshops that do not require an audition. Students in elective workshops will either participate in the Summer Sizzler Performances, or in studio showings at the end of the summer.

Repertory workshops have minimum technique level requirements that are determined by the choreographer and Directors of The Ailey School. Those students who have met those level requirements will have the opportunity to audition for repertory workshops on the first day of the Summer Intensive Program. Please note: although a student may meet the level requirements for auditioning for a workshop it does not guarantee participation in a workshop. Choreographers and the School Directors will make their casting decisions after all auditions have taken place.

→What are the dates and times of the Summer Sizzler performances?

Summer Sizzler Performances and studio showings take place on the last two days of the Summer Intensive Program at 4:30pm and 7:30pm.

→How much are tickets to the Summer Sizzler performances and when can they be purchased?

Tickets are $10 and $20. A limited number of tickets are available to each student. Information on purchasing tickets and on the performance programs will be available two weeks before the performances.

Students are strongly encouraged to communicate information regarding performances to their parents directly.

There is no charge to attend studio showings, but space is limited.

→Can parents or guests video-tape or photograph the performances?

Because of the choreographer's copyrights, photography and videotaping is not allowed under any circumstances.
